RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Dr. S. E. Pease o Ashland will preach in the Christian chapel on Sunday next, Dec. 3—Morning and evening. A cordial invitation is extended.

Our merchants and other business men are going to close their houses to-morrow, as has been their custom for years. This is as it should be—and if we had more holiday in a year (short as they seem) it would be better for us all. Constantly on the rush is wearing to the toughest constitution.

A Fine.—Mr. Adam Oberlin, of Tuscarawas township, unfortunately lost his barn and contents on last Saturday, by fire. He resides on the old homestead, and the building is said to have been a good one, and the loss is put down at $3,000. By what means the fire originated we are not informed, but in fer it was an accident. Mr. O. was here in town at the time of the catastrophe.

On Monday wagons and carriages appeared on the streets, many of them partly covered with snow; but little or none had fallen here, yet there must have been some in the neighborhood.

The Phrenological Journal for Dec. is in no manner lacking in interest, as it continues to treat on intellectual and moral subjects with the accustomed ability of eminent writers. Our former fellow citizen, Rev. Wm. Pittenger, contributes an article, which follows several previous productions from his pen under the phrase, The Bridge of Motion. In this essay of some dozen pages Mr. P. gives evidence that he is one of the thinkers of the times, for the theme leads him into the discussion of the connection between mind and matter, using the title of his article in a metaphysical sense. A long series of other articles fill the numerous pages of the Journal, all adopted to interest the reader. Mr. Wells the publisher, proposes to increase the value of the Journal, N. Y.

One day last week the people of Cleveland were horrified by a brutal murder in broad day light. The victim was a colored man, by occupation a tinner, and was respected by all. Detectives were stimulated by rewards amounting to $150 to look up the perpetrator, and after rigorous search he was found near Xenia. He was taken to Cleveland, and is now in jail,—is a mutatto, and confesses the crime, alleging that he committed it for the money of the deceased, all of which amounted to $12, and an old watch. The great probability is his life will have to pay the forfeit of this crime.

Pork is said to be cheap now, as the living swine can be had for $3.37 per 100—dressed from $1.75 to $5 per hundred. But eggs have gone up to 22 and 25 cts a dozen, while apples are about 60 cts. Beef continues to be cheaper than pork.

Many of the papers which are so willing to give Mrs. Woodhull an infamous victory in publishing a statement that she was once a resident of this city, and that she attended the school taught by Miss Sally Brannon. Miss B. is now living here, and is a teacher, but we have not heard whether she taught so distinguished a pupil. If she ever had such a person in her school she will probably recall the fact, and if not asking too much of her we hope she will let us know the truth of the matter. Some of our neighboring papers are sneering at Massillon because they say the Woodhull once lived here.

Since the foregoing was put in type we are informed that Miss Brannon had once have the distinguished woman, Mrs. Woodhull, for a pupil. How long since this was the case we are not informed. So Massillon has entertained a person who has attained national reputation.

With the close of the year 1871 Every Saturday, the favorite Boston weekly, and popular wherever it is known, will drop its pictorial character. To many this will be a source of regret, as its numerous excellent representations were esteemed as among the best productions in that branch of the art. The last number in pictorial form will bear date Dec. 30, '71. On and after Jan. 1, '72 it will be published in the original form in which it was issued from 1856 to 1869. It always has been a superb paper, and with the thousands the memory of its history previous to its pictorial character, as well as since, is most pleasant—and let it come in what shape it may Every Saturday is always welcomed by an appreciative public.

Those billheads and statements which we are printing for so many of our business men these days, are convincing evidences among that class that we can and do give satisfaction. If runners come from other places for work in our line—and they do sometimes—they may run home so far as we are concerned, and establish a reputation among their neighbors for doing good work, and if deserving they need not run away to far off places to get jobs. As long as they have to do that the suspicion is out that they are not very popular and successful at home. The people are not too stupid to see these things.

Diaries are now used by almost everybody, and as the new year is fast coming to us we may expect the market will be well supplied with these indispensable conveniences. Customers can be supplied with them at our news depots, and Mr. Kachler always has a fine assortment during the holidays. Other places may also keep these annuals—if so, the people will find them.

The ends of the days, especially if cloudy and dark, seem to come pretty close together. In some cases, even here, artificial light has to be used in day time, and when that is the case here how must it be in Pittsburgh? Gas light is in great demand there, in many places during the winter, night and day.

Messrs. Myers & Willison have had a longer siege in repairing than at first anticipated, but they now have a new engine, and are about prepared to go to active work under their accustomed energy. The iron foundry near their establishment will also go into blast, as it depends on steam power to help melt the iron. Plows are also to be made at the foundry.

It looks a little as if the words picks, monks and friars—blendishes in printing—the first a little speck of useless black, the second a larger place covered with undistributed ink, and the third a pile or rather white space where there is no little ink—we observe, that it seems as if these technical terms have gone out of fashion among the craft. In an essay recently honored with a reproduction in several papers the ricks is almost invariably spelled jicks. Perhaps had manuscript been the first compositor start wrong, and others, naturally followed copy—but old printers, it seems to us, should have seen the error—though it is of not much importance.

Mr. D. W. Hunsman, now of Allegheny City, Pa., paid this place a visit on business within the last few days.

Editorial changes have taken place recently as follows. F. M. Atterbott has disposed of his interest in the Register at Columbia to E. S. Holloway, who now controls the paper. Frank Miller, for a brief period editor of the Buckeye State, New Lisbon, has taken charge of the New Lisbon Journal, and J. L. Clark assumes control of the Buckeye State.

Saturday was pay day at Russells, on which occasion a large amount of money was given out to their working men.

Ed. McClymonds, Esq., who has been absent from here for some three months, has just returned. He will probably resume his place in the Union National Bank.

Neighboring towns to the northwest of us are wide awake on the Temperance question. They are having Sunday meetings by which they maintain such an interest that their houses are filled with attentive listeners. And they don't wait or send away off to secure some renowned lecturer, but use home talent or avail themselves of neighboring speakers. Here are examples that, other vicinities might profitably follow, and do so with decided advantage. In such a city as ours, however, where there are so many public speakers, either resident or traveling, the people are more difficult to please, so it is necessary to have an orator of some repute to bring together anything like a fair audience.

Bargains can be had this week and next at Coleman's jewelry store, next door to the post office, as he is selling off goods at reduced prices to make room for more. "When Johnny comes marching home" with a new stock of gold and silver watches, jewelry and silver ware for the holidays.

THE AMERICAN WASHER! PRICE, $5.50. The American Washer saves Money, Time, and Drudgery.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no longer dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, not possessed by any other washing machine, are here mentioned. In a word, it is the smallest, most simple, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours practice, can thoroughly comprehend and efficiently use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting. It is always ready for use. It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing the shirt, in a word, the tub and its contents, from a quilt to a bare curtain or cambric handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the Little Gem! It can be fastened to any tub and taken off at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the use of the Little Gem will soon set to rest its wonders, all doubts of its efficiency, and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once become fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thoroughly tested the machine, and who can testify to its efficiency, and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once become fast friends of the machine.

The Advance, published at Chicago, although badly burned out by the great fire has resumed its issues since the disaster, and now comes out enlarged and beautiful by new material all the way through. The proprietors appeal to their friends to aid in extending its circulation and they are responding with the zeal and earnestness necessary to secure success. It now contains fifty six columns every week, all of deep interest to the religious reader.

Religious services will be had at the M. E. church on tomorrow, thanksgiving day, in which the Presbyterian and Methodist churches unite, as they been doing for a number of years. Other churches will also probably observe the day at the usual hour—10 1/2 o'clock.

Every out ward indication manifests the facts that tomorrow will be a day of fasting—a big eating—instead of fasting. As to the humiliation and prayer recommended by the officials—some may regard the injunction, but a good many will not.

Old folks are becoming rather common these days. In various places we read of centenarians. A Newburyville paper tells of a man 100 years old, and there is a woman in Indiana who is put down at 113. She can tell a good deal about old revolutionary times and Washington—nothing about the cherry tree or hatchet.

A great many of our editorial brethren have very ugly things to say of Mrs. Woodhull—that she is a terribly bad woman, and Mr. Tilton for befriending her is no better. How many of them know the insinuations they publish so freely to be true? And how did they find out their correctness. Would such proofs as they use to define a woman's character stand in a court of justice? Mrs. W. may be all that is alleged, if so let us have the proof.

The effort to rain these days have not been successful. That blessing is spread out very thin, and it rains in infinitesimal quantities.

COAL, CHRONOLOGICAL.
Once a year, and at this season, it is conventional for newspapers to say something concerning the discovery of coal in this country. Complying with this custom, it may be noticed that bituminous coal was mined near Richmond, Va., as early as 1700. It was extensively used in the vicinity in 1753, and a Richmond foundry employed it in making shot and shell during the Revolution. It was sent to Boston, Philadelphia, and New York in 1789. Onadiah Gore and his brother, Black Francis from Connecticut, were the first to make use of anthracite coal in the Wyoming (Pa.) Valley in 1763. Judge Jesse Fell, of Wilkesbarre, was the first to apply it to household uses. Philip Ginter, a hunter in the Mauch Chunk region, discovered the Lehigh coal in 1794. Mines were opened in 1792, but it was ten years later before the coal was sent to Philadelphia. The Schuylkill coal was first sent to Philadelphia in 1812. This briefly sums up the early discoveries of coal in this country. The man who believes that coal will ever fall to its former price of three or four dollars a ton is yet to be discovered.—Exchange.

Census returns, soon to be published show that there in the United States 20,320 blind persons, of whom 11,343 are male and 8,977 females. The whites are 16,866; black 2,966; mulattoes 354; Chinese 4; and Indians 29. There are deaf and dumb 16,205; males 8,816; females 7,389. All except 1,298 are white. The whole number of insane is 27,352; male 18,174; females 9,178. Except 1,822 all are white. Of the idiotic there are 14,433 males and 10,042 females; total 24,475. The proportion of negroes is much larger in this class of unfortunates than in either of the others, and including both black and mulattoes, the number is 3,188. The whole number of those who are both blind and deaf and dumb is 96 persons; both blind and insane 75; blind and idiotic 105; blind, deaf and dumb, and also idiotic 11; blind, deaf and dumb and also insane, 7. It will be noticed that in all classes of unfortunates except the insane the number of males is much greater than the number of females.

As it respects general habits, a parent can hardly teach a child a more valuable art than dispatch without haste; nor can any one that values his time cultivate a more valuable one for himself.

Professor Agassiz says Maine was the first formed land of the New World that here the solid land first appeared and here the 'Lawrentian' hills stood above the waters, and first showed to the world a rising continent.

A temperance editor in drawing attention to an article against ardent spirits in his paper, says: 'For the effects of temperance see our in side.

A gentleman addressing a passionate love letter to a lady in the same tone, added this postscript: 'Please to send a speedy answer, as I have somebody else in my eye.'

Proof positive: Good young lady—'Little boy, have you ever been baptised? Small heathen—Oh, yes, mum; I've the mark here on my arm.

A sexton being very familiar with a physician, was asked whether he had entered into partnership with him. 'Oh, yes,' said he 'we've been together for some time; I always carry the doctor's work home when it is done.'

A gentleman engaged in investigating the charges of carelessness against the workmen in the Scanton mines, found afterward that during the investigation, he had been given an open keg of powder to sit on, while he held a lighted candle in his hand.

A Berkshire papa put it thus to his daughter's beau: 'Jim if you want Lou you can have her; but I don't want you hanging around unless you mean business. If you intend to marry her, hurry up, I can't be kept awake nights much longer.'

In Oswego county, N. Y., the ladies of a village have met and resolved that they 'will not accept the company of any young man who uses tobacco in any form, unless the night is very dark and the road muddy, for the space of sixty days from date.'

'Now, then, children,' said a parish schoolmistress, showing her pupils out on examination day, 'who loves all men?' 'You, missis,' was the unexpected answer.

An exchange tells us that 'twenty years ago Leland Stanford arrived in California with only one shirt to his back. Since then by close attention to business, he has contrived to accumulate over ten millions.' What the dince can a man do with ten million shirts.

A curious observer of men, women, and things in St. Louis, has made the discovery that men and boys invariably run the heels of their boots and shoes over outwardly, while women and girls run theirs over inwardly. Out of 147 men and boys that passed the observer at a given point, this fact was true in every instance; out of 97 women that passed, it was true in every instance but one.

We clip the following from an exchange: A good instance of 'sharp practice' is that of a man in Ohio, who was required of murder on the plea of insanity. He had secured his lawyers by giving them a mortgage on his farm but now repudiates the mortgage on the ground that he was insane he made according to the showing of these lawyers.

Dr. J. LONG, Eclectic Physician,
Has located himself at Massillon, O., for the treatment of Female & Chronic Diseases.
Office east of the Park, second floor of Mr. Folke's new building.
All consultations and examinations of patients whether the doctor examines your disease without asking any questions. If he understands your case you know it, and cannot be deceived. If he cannot tell your disease, send how you feel without asking questions he does not consider himself competent to treat your case. This is the only direct and positive evidence of my ability as a scientific physician, and by this standard I am willing to be judged.
A proper diagnosis of local disease, without constitutional symptoms, that is, not affecting the system generally, must depend upon the judgment of both patient and physician.
Give Dr. Long a call, and satisfy yourself as to whether he understands your case sufficiently well to treat them successfully.
Dr. Long may be consulted in the German and English languages. Address letters, JAMES LONG, M.D., Massillon, Ohio. 371-1y
